To: Public Defenders Office / District Attorneys Office,

In order to contain drug, anger management, and domestic violence / battery offenders there must be a coordinated community response inclusive of the criminal justice system, treatment providers, victim services, and the local community. Programs for the treatment of drug, anger management, and domestic violence / battery offenders were developed to establish minimum conditions for monitoring and containing the offender's behavior, and to provide statewide consistency in the treatment of the offender. The standards were designed to enhance victim and community safety, promote offender accountability, and provide an opportunity for offenders through treatment to eliminate violent behavior in all forms. Programs for the treatment of drug, anger management, domestic violence / battery offenders have been developed, to the extent possible, so that all offenders may access the programs in the criminal justice system.

To help better promote this program please post the banner provided in your community message board for easy offender reference.

CourtOrderedClasses.com was designed for individuals who need to take court ordered courses for court ordered requirements as a part of probation.
